This year's workshop will be the most content-rich event we've ever hosted. As the OpenFabrics Alliance nears its third anniversary, there will a special focus on industry-wide requirements for the adoption, deployment, support and maintenance of the OpenFabrics software stack. Presentations will also include recent design wins as well as current and planned installations of the OpenFabrics Enterprise Distribution software stack.

The workshop will feature presentations and discussions from the entire ecosystem of those responsible for the success of unified, transport-independent OpenFabrics software stack, including:

> current and future end users > server and storage OEM vendors > Windows and Linux OS vendors > application software providers > network equipment providers

The Sonoma Workshop is the annual opportunity for users of OpenFabrics software to ensure that the Alliance development communities for both Linux and Windows are aware of the environments in which the OpenFabrics software is being used. The workshop is also an opportunity for attendees to network with one another and get updates regarding:

> the next Enterprise Distribution of the OpenFabrics software stack (OFED 1.2) > the Alliance's certified logo program > collaboration with the InfiniBand Trade Association and the Ethernet Alliance > advances that will enable higher-speed and longer-distance transport

The Lodge at Sonoma is a world-class resort and spa in Sonoma Valley, less than an hour north of San Francisco in California's wine country. The OpenFabrics Alliance has obtained special hotel rates during the Workshop and for attendees who wish to arrive early or stay a few days after the event with family or friends.
