

GET IN ON THE YOUTUBE OF CHINA NOW!

Date: Monday, August 20, 2007
Company: China YouTV Corp.
Symbol: CYTV
Price: $0.45

China YouTV's CnBoo Web Site Ranks No.1 on Google.com!

BEIJING, CHINA, Aug 17, 2007 (MARKET WIRE via COMTEX) -- China YouTV Corp. (OTCBB: CYTV), a publicly traded company that provides online video sharing services through its CnBoo web site in China, reported that CnBoo.com is currently ranked No.1 among all online video companies in China based on the world wide leading Internet search engine Google.com.

Google is a top web searching engine in all major global markets, offering targeted search results from more than 8 billion web pages. Today, Google.com has become the World's top one searching engine which offers search results in more than 35 languages and attracts an audience of more than 380 million people worldwide.

Coming on the heels of ranking No.1 on Microsoft Live Search Engine and No.7 on BaiDu (China's largest search engine), CnBoo is very proud to see its website now placing top position on all major searching engine websites in China.

According to the recent survey from IResearch, the audiences of online video website reach 86.72 million and account for 85.7% of total netizens in China by June 2007. Meanwhile, approximately 300 online video companies are sharing US$80 million market nowadays. Moreover, it predicts that the users of online sharing service will be 180 million with the market size of US$485 million by 2010 in China.

"All the revealed data made the ranking meaningful," said Mr. James Wei, the President of the Company. "Video sharing has a huge market in China. By the ranking, we are very pleased to see 'CnBoo' becomes comparatively popular website among the other companies in the same field. We believe we have the ideal formula to further our ambitions of becoming a leading online video sharing website in the industry."

About China YouTV Corporation:

The Company signed a Definitive Agreement with HuaJu to set up a Joint Venture in China on March 16, 2007. According to the Agreement, the China YouTV Corp. owns 51% of the joint venture company and will provide the required working capital for the Joint Venture. HuaJu will be in charge of the daily operation of the Joint Venture. HuaJu has agreed to conduct its video sharing business only through the Joint Venture, and has agreed to contribute its web site, www.CnBoo.com and customer contracts to the Joint Venture www.CnBoo.com ("CnBoo") is the online video site belonging to the Joint Venture established by China YouTV Corp. and HuaJu. It is a video viewing site and social networking site that allows users to create their own profiles, post videos, and comment on each other's posts. The CnBoo web site is similar to YouTube (www.YouTube.com), the No. 1 online video site in operation. Within less than 2 years, CnBoo already has over 1.2 million members and over 2 million pieces of original digital video (DV) shorts.

To increase membership and CnBoo's brand name awareness, HuaJu has worked both on-line and off-line:

On-line: HuaJu has signed several agreements to enhance its on-line contents, such as an agreement for CCTV's TV program "Exploring High and Low", an agreement with ManGoCity, a travel company, an agreement with Megadia to host Humor channel on CnBoo web site, and the recently signed agreement with Music Nation and VVsky to add more music on its web site.

Off-line: HuaJu has signed several agreements to promote its 3G space cards, such as the agreement with Gome Electrical Appliances Holding Ltd., the largest chain store operator of electrical appliances in China to distribute its 3G digital space cards to Gome customers; an agreement with HURRAY, a NASDAQ listed company, for the launch of 3G experience terminals in Gome's stores; an agreement with ManGoCity, and a promotion agreement with Z-Card. HuaJu also got exclusive right from AIDS Prevention Education Project for Chinese Youth to negotiate with investors to install LED displays in the colleges and universities across China. All LEDs will have HuaJu and CnBoo's logo on it.

The Company has shown increasing popularity as its CnBoo web sites had been ranked No.1 on Microsoft Live, No.7 on BaiDu, No.11 on Yahoo China and No.12 on Google China when searching for keywords: on-line video and on-line video sharing web sites.

The Company has changed its name to China YouTV this year to reflect its new business operations: the fast growing video sharing web site market in China.

YouTube.com opened in November of 2006, it is one of the most viewed websites in the world. Its market influence has partnered it with the world's largest media corporations. Google purchased it for over $1.6 Billion. Chboo.com is well on the way down the same road. This is a chance to get ahead, with a proven method of success.

Read the news, move fast on CYTV First thing Monday, August 20, 2007!

Despite Bush's repeated statements that the report will reflect evaluations by Petraeus and Ryan Crocker, the U.

Is there just one Iraqi scientist or official who wants to see the freedom of his country so badly that he is ready to cooperate with the U.

Or, fourth, they can do their damn jobs and fight it out.

troops in this election year and handing off responsibility for security to hastily trained Iraqi forces.

Countrywide Financial Corp.

Will Marshall is, of course, a very serious person who was very active in helping to cause the biggest foreign policy and humanitarian debacle in memory.

Just because they have a mutual backscratching society in which they tell themselves are all wise, noble, experienced, intelligent, impartial, and honest doesn't make it so.

I think, in a way, Hillary has Mrs.
I really don't think this is true.
Miraculously, they didn't let themselves be destroyed.
No Charlie Rose for you dirty fucking hippie, we must hear from Ken Pollack again!
By dwelling obsessively on U.
Also it makes all of those killed by bombs as victims of "bad guys everyone agrees must be killed" rather than part of a civil war in which taking sides is a rather problematic issue.
" More than that, he had tremendous support from the site both during the primary run and during the general, pre- and post-Macaca.
would pretty much seal that fate.
And this time, make it binding.
I don't know why it troubles journalists so.
But, as he said, you're going to have bad days and you're going to have good days.
I was there about six weeks ago, and there were already some early signs of success.
Greenwald because he's had frankly more time and more readership than he deserves.
Friedman's someone who advocated killing random innocent people to prove we could.
"That's true in the specific but not true in a more general sense.
"You don't think, you know, we care about our open society, you think this bubble fantasy, we're just gonna to let it grow?
What must it be like to have such contempt for your readers, and still expect them to buy your crayon scribbblings.
It was one year ago today.
Some are more honest "experts" than others, but even if we all have the same facts at our disposal we can come to widely different conclusions about what policies should be implemented.
In any case, it doesn't seem that jumbo loan rates of crept up much, just no-doc jumbo rates, which doesn't seem all that unreasonable.
And now what does Will Marshall have to say about Iraq, when he isn't busy defending Joe "lost the plot" Lieberman?
So in that sense, I'm one of them.
by submitting to an interview and exposing the regime's hidden weapons?
" The failure to comprehend that simple fact has prevented members of our very serious crowd of pundits from listening to or admitting to the validity of criticism of so many things.
Turd Blossom taking his ball and going home.
Not in the literal-minded sense that Saddam must be stopped from funding al-Qaid or harboring Osama Bin Laden.
"I don't know what the other options are because if we fail here I think it's going to be very difficult to maintain the support of the American people," he said.
then we aren't able to maintain a foreign endeavor.
The liberal war critic Michael O'Hanlon: Are inspections of Iraqi weapons facilities a viable alternative to war?
Friedman's someone who advocated killing random innocent people to prove we could.
Earlier, US troops said they had killed four gunmen in Baghdad, but local officials said at least three of the dead were civilians.
By dwelling obsessively on U.
Still, that doesn't stop all of the Very Serious People from passing on the press release gospel.
There is a long, stunned pause before the spokeswoman says: "Can you call back tomorrow morning?
The Arizona senator said during a campaign stop in Iowa that he'd be hard pressed to find an option that the public would support if the troop increase fails.

They said the large contingent of Special Operations forces now in Iraq would continue missions to capture and kill terrorist and insurgent leaders, and to disrupt their networks.

They defied the pundits, they stood together, they beat Bush and the Republicans

Either Harold Ford doesn't really believe Daily Kos is a seething hotbed of anti-Semitism, or he's just agreed to help promote an anti-Semitic site next year by attending the successor to Yearly Kos.

The thing on Friday was completely inappropriate.

True patriotism demands not denials and whitewashes, but a thorough, independent investigation, punishment of those responsible, and clear policies to prevent a repetition.

Our elites - press, politicians, the very serious "foreign policy community," etc - failed us and failed us miserably.

What they needed to see was American boys and girls going house to house, from Basra to Baghdad, and basically saying, "Which part of this sentence don't you understand?"

I can certainly understand those who dream of a party run by people like him. We needed to go over there, basically, and um, uh, take out a very big state right in the heart of that world and burst that bubble, and there was only one way to do it.

Discussions of the utility of the conflict always took a backseat to the perceived moral righteousness of it.

And now what does Will Marshall have to say about Iraq, when he isn't busy defending Joe "lost the plot" Lieberman?

We hit Iraq because we could.

Can anybody in this gang tie their shoes?

Just read this interview with that pit bull Bill Moyers.

Oh, and the magical leverage fairy.

Most importantly, of course, is that Will Marshall helped take us into war. military forces in Iraq for as long as may be required to ensure a stable, representative regime is in place and functioning.

"Does this point even need to be argued?"

That was the respectable position.

Even with Saddam Hussein in the bag and awaiting trial, that's a bad idea.

But, more to the point, yes "a foreign-policy clerisy is unjustified, anti-democratic, and pernicious."

Even before the war, "war critics" were almost entirely limited to those who criticized the timing, or the degree to which the UN or international community generally was on board.

People think that because Webb was a former Navy secretary under Reagan, and because he speaks, at least rhetorically, favorably about that era, that he is somehow a right-wing Democrat.

"We know how things work."

ambassador to Iraq, issue their progress report in September.

"We know how things work."

, chairman, Democratic Leadership Council; Markos Moulitsas, founder, DailyKos Web site.

Consider Will Marshall of the DLC.

Or are they so certain to fail that further efforts to resume them are pointless, and war the only practical option for addressing the threat posed by Saddam Hussein?

Yes we were attacked.

We hit Iraq because we could.

It would help if our leaders stopped casting anxious glances toward the exits.

There isn't actually an "economic policy clerisy" or an "environmental policy clerisy" or a "housing policy clerisy."

, chairman, Democratic Leadership Council; Markos Moulitsas, founder, DailyKos Web site.

Duncan Hunter, California Republican; Rep.

That Charlie was what this war was about.

There is a bunch of stuff here.

CNN Polling Director Keating Holland said he doesn't think the mistrust is directed at Petraeus as much as it is what he represents.

ambassador to Iraq, administration officials said it would actually be written by the White House, with inputs from officials throughout the government.

The Arizona senator said during a campaign stop in Iowa that he'd be hard pressed to find an option that the public would support if the troop increase fails.

" It was a lie, of course, and one which didn't even make any sense, and the only reason we found that out was because someone in the Pentagon thought it was a wee bit much to stomach.

" as a necessary prophylactic to charges of "unserious peacenik dirty fucking hippie!

ROBERTS: General Petraeus has said that he won't know if it's working or not until the middle part of August.

Our elites - press, politicians, the very serious "foreign policy community," etc - failed us and failed us miserably.

Not only can we abort the budding presidential candidacy of Sen.

Deborah Pryce will not seek another term in office.

But unlike all of the caves which happened during Republican control, we're in a period where.

A third way is to hash out some compromise behind closed doors without any public disagreement.

Jim Webb was not exactly a Daily Kos Democrat in Virginia.

To be sure, Iraq isn't the only rogue state that poses this kind of risk, but it's by far the most dangerous at the moment.

" Instead we recognize that, expertise aside, there are people with competing agendas on all of these topics.

org, that the United States withdraw its troops from Iraq.

But they must do so in a way that makes it clear they are rooting for America to succeed in Iraq.

You know that they can be ignored, if not laughed at and mocked, by all sentient beings until the end of time.

military clampdown began in February, but what is happening in Amil and neighboring Bayaa belies the claim.

Certainly "scary weapons" were invoked by self-styled liberal hawks even if they weren't, in their heart of hearts, their prime reason.

We could've hit Saudi Arabia, it was part of that bubble.

That there is no accountability for such things, because they would be, you know, partisan, perfectly captures everything which is wrong with the "Foreign Policy Community.

I really don't think this is true.

Maybe occasionally ejecting a few for having some really catastrophically bad ideas?

That Charlie was what this war was about.

Friedman's someone who advocated killing random innocent people to prove we could.

Will Marshall on Guantanamo and Abu Ghraib.

Karl Rove, President Bush's longtime political adviser, is resigning as White House deputy chief of staff effective Aug.

Just last week, Giuliani was criticized by some firefighter unions for suggesting he was at ground zero as much, if not more, than many rescue workers and exposed to the same health risks.

David Petraeus, the new commander in Iraq, the "surge" should show results by late summer, about six months from now.

Certainly "scary weapons" were invoked by self-styled liberal hawks even if they weren't, in their heart of hearts, their prime reason.

Even with Saddam Hussein in the bag and awaiting trial, that's a bad idea.

It often even seems to have style consistency over the course of years.

David Petraeus confers with officers in Iraq in July.

you know, torture, etc: Democrats should also bring a sense of proportion to the prisoner abuse scandals at Abu Ghraib and Guantanamo Bay. This has the advantage of letting them talk about things separately, pointing to "good news" in one category or another if they can claim it exists. For better or for worse Jim Webb is probably the archetypal "Daily Kos Democrat."

ROBERTS: General Petraeus has said that he won't know if it's working or not until the middle part of August.

Jim Talent, Missouri Republican, campaign adviser to former Massachusetts Gov.

This is because we disagree about stuff.

This thinking, which could probably be best described as the Glenn Reynolds school of foreign policy is, aside from being evil, fucking stupid.

People think that because Webb was a former Navy secretary under Reagan, and because he speaks, at least rhetorically, favorably about that era, that he is somehow a right-wing Democrat.

Whether it was deliberate, fear, laziness, stupidity, a mistake, whatever, I do not know.

He quickly backed off that statement, saying he misspoke.

Karl Rove, President Bush's longtime political adviser, is resigning as White House deputy chief of staff effective Aug.

"He added, "It does seem to indicate that anyone associated with the Bush administration may be a less than credible messenger for the message that there is progress being made in Iraq.

We won't have Tommy Thompson to kick around anymore.

ROBERTS: General Petraeus has said that he won't know if it's working or not until the middle part of August.

Greenwald has carried out here.

Jim Talent, Missouri Republican, campaign adviser to former Massachusetts Gov.

The Thiraa Dijla bridge in Taji lies on the main road from Baghdad to Mosul.

Dennis Kucinich, Ohio Democrat; Leonardo DiCaprio, actor.

By the administration's own projections, and those of the Gen.

Consider Will Marshall of the DLC.

The idea that because we can't fight them all, we shouldn't fight any of them is illogical.

This unraveling of a Minskian Ponzi credit scheme is exactly what is happening right now in financial markets.

-led coalition was merely mopping up Saddam's diehards, bringing some troops home would make sense.

"That's true in the specific but not true in a more general sense.

"I empathize with them, because I feel like I have that same risk," said Giuliani, who was at the World Trade Center almost immediately on Sept.

You can draw the obvious conclusion yourself.

"We know how things work.

military clampdown began in February, but what is happening in Amil and neighboring Bayaa belies the claim.

Earlier, US troops said they had killed four gunmen in Baghdad, but local officials said at least three of the dead were civilians.

I am extremely excited about his candidacy and I'll be taking a bigger role promoting it in the coming months.

The election of Rudy!

Earlier, US troops said they had killed four gunmen in Baghdad, but local officials said at least three of the dead were civilians.

Chip Pickering, R-Miss.

ambassador to Iraq, administration officials said it would actually be written by the White House, with inputs from officials throughout the government.

Try to take it easy on the falafel stuff as well.

Sadly, they seem to have forgotten how fun that was.

troops doesn't stabilize Iraq.

"Their web site has been disappeared, but here's their mission statement.

Eugene Hutz on Fresh Air.

They exist to monopolize debate and have veto status over club members.
" as a necessary prophylactic to charges of "unserious peacenik dirty fucking hippie!
the leadership, especially in the House, can kinda control these things.
But this is the political equivalent of a compound felony: insulting voters' intelligence while offending their patriotic sensibilities.
adding, Roubini talks about uncertainty and the increasing lack of transparency in the financial markets.
It'd be tough and very serious!
Jim Webb was not exactly a Daily Kos Democrat in Virginia.
Joe Sestak, Pennsylvania Democrat; former Sen.
David Petraeus, the new commander in Iraq, the "surge" should show results by late summer, about six months from now.
That, in turn, will put more pressure on individual sellers, who will have to reduce their own prices if they want to find a buyer.
Sadly, they seem to have forgotten how fun that was.
It's a dangerously absurd state of affairs, and it has to change somehow.
I've sort of been half-listening to the television while working, but it appears she's marrying Jose Padilla.
Lord Weisberg:How does war on Iraq advance our effort to combat terrorism?
We could've hit Saudi Arabia, it was part of that bubble.
But, ultimately, we must look back and ask: what did we achieve?
This thinking, which could probably be best described as the Glenn Reynolds school of foreign policy is, aside from being evil, fucking stupid.
Turd Blossom taking his ball and going home.
Anyone who thinks that will be pleasantly surprised over the next several months
.
Is there just one Iraqi scientist or official who wants to see the freedom of his country so badly that he is ready to cooperate with the U.
But unlike all of the caves which happened during Republican control, we're in a period where.
It often even seems to have style consistency over the course of years.
But he's a public intellectual!