Kind of complicated, but this is only something that laptop users have to deal with.

I left there wondering what on earth is Microsoft thinking?

After much, much considerable thought, I've just submitted my application for admission into Upper Iowa University in pursuit for my B.

Not only had this made my whole day, but my whole week, month.

Needless to say I signed up immediately.

I had a wonderful and very interesting turnout this tax season, this year the first year I decided to keep a record and hope to be posting statistics soon.

Thanks to Randy Seaver for pointing this out!

I gave you my heart But the very next day, You gave it away.

Heart disease is very prominent in my family, so I wouldn't be surprised, but I guess a healthier diet never hurt anybody!

My intention was to keep "hush-hush" and near the location of that box so nobody else would nab it but.

I am now already onto my second week in my next course, Critical Thinking, which appears to be a much lighter load than this last one.

I am looking forward to our tax party at work, which also happens to be the night before my birthday.

Sure sounds like a death wish, doesn't it?

So I am finally, finally getting DSL!

org Home Bengal cats ColdFusion Contact me!

First off, most businesses are so reluctant to upgrade due to cost and Microsoft's own reputation, but boy, now this version is going to possibly require retraining?

is upper iowa university a good place to study in?

A crowded room, Friends with tired eyes I'm hiding from you, And your soul of ice.

The Penn State Web site has a great page with Windows Alt Key Numeric Codes for accented letters and other special characters.

Apply directly to the forehead!

In the interest of being accurate, I've recently started using those special characters in my genealogy writing and software, but looking them up in the symbols list always seems clunky.

I don't even care for food all that much, and when I do I don't even eat that much, so therefore I'm not even sure that this is something that I can even control.

Double-click Windows Live OneCare located on your taskbar, under Common Tasks click Change OneCare settings, and under the Firewall tab, click the Advanced settings.

This is usually found on the upper right of the keyboard, and a special Num Lock light will indicate that the numeric key pad is on.

I just recently finished English Composition II and got an A!

Free Family Tree Chart - Interactive Graphical Family Tree C.

Once bitten and twice shy, I keep my distance But you still catch my eye!

Recently I had to visit Sam's Club to pick up a few items.

After much, much considerable thought, I've just submitted my application for admission into Upper Iowa University in pursuit for my B.

This can be a quicker solution, especially when you only use a few special characters.

For me it's a special function key.

I'm not sure what Microsoft was trying to accomplish here.

txt: A Color for Every Day!

There is also some good discussion of the program over at the FTM-TECH list on RootsWeb.

However still a great idea in my book as it encourages more Americans to save using their refunds!

No matter how they managed to both die on that very coincidental day, it's a romantic story irrevocably wrapped up in the founding of our nation.

I just couldn't believe my luck!

It would appear that in order to claim this deduction you must wait until early February according to the IRS.

Ch-Ch-Ch-Chia Sh-Sh-Sh-Shut up!

really, both of you, seriously, please, shut up now.

Then, once Num Lock is on, you still have to hold down the function key to enter the numbers required by the special ALT codes.

Very appropriate for those wishing to accomplish educational goals in a shorter amount of time.

I liked your blog on Thankful for Technology and thought you might find this useful: www.

I shudder to think of what it was like without such available, instant access to information and people, and I'm sure thankful I'm living the era I do!

When not buried in heaps of tax code, I enjoy hobbies such as beta testing, digital photography, astrology, and even crocheting.

Activate the numeric key pad on the right of the keyboard by pressing Num Lock.

Well, it's been a year, It doesn't surprise me.

However still a great idea in my book as it encourages more Americans to save using their refunds!

Finally in some areas, you have to click around that much more whereas in XP you can go to the same thing with fewer clicks, which is just absolutely ridiculous!

I just couldn't believe my luck!

But in searching on the Internet for a workaround, I actually found one!

Not only had this made my whole day, but my whole week, month.
